Shahariar Sohan

Aspiring Backend Engineer | MERN Stack Developer | Nextjs |
PostgreSQL Learner
Chattogram, Bangladesh

Summary

I'm Shahariar Sohan, an aspiring backend engineer and MERN stack developer passionate about building scalable, maintainable systems. I focus on backend development, clean architecture, and database optimization, designing robust APIs and writing modular, reliable code.

Through projects like ePay Wallet and my portfolio website, I've gained hands-on experience with frontend and backend development, MongoDB, Prisma, server-side validation, and error handling.

Self-taught and continuously improving, I aim to grow into a professional backend engineer, building enterprise-grade, high-performance applications.
